Friday, September 7, 2018

GNTP Applications Open

Applications are now open for the Graduate Neuroscience Training Program (GNTP). Launched in Fall 2017, GNTP offers students opportunities to sample multiple, distinct thematic areas during their first-year, while also accommodating the more experienced student with a deeper dive into specific areas. All students in the program will receive nationally-competitive stipends that include guaranteed research and teaching assistantships, health insurance coverage, relocation support and opportunities for research and travel grants. Learn More.